FIRST CLASS MAIL

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the nearly forty dealers and collectors who attended our June 4th & 5th sale here at Crestline. The sale was a success in every way. Total prices realized was almost 10% over total estimates; nearly all lots sold; more of our mail bidders participated than in any sale since 1981; there were even a few bargains to be had; and the weather was beautiful. Bibliophiles from all over the United States attended and most expressed their intent to return for next year's sale, plans for which are already being made. Hope we see you here in June 1986.

Another fine Kolbe/Spink Public Auction of Important Numismatic Books is being planned for December at the New York International Numismatic Convention. Copies of the catalogue (including the prices realized list) may be reserved by sending $5.00.

This double issue of THE BOOKSELLER features our twenty-second Auction Sale of Numismatic Literature, inserted as a supplement. A careful reading of the catalogue is suggested. Many rarely offered titles are included along with a number of large lots. The estimates are purposely low. While the better items are likely to sell near the estimates there are bound to be many bargains among the larger lots. Do not be sorry you didn't participate. Bids will be accepted by mail or telephone.

Also featured in this issue are a number of interesting and important numismatic books selected from stock and offered at fixed prices. Most are new acquisitions.

Finally, we are most pleased to offer a nearly complete run of ROYAL NUMISMATIC SOCIETY SPECIAL PUBLICATIONS. Along with Spink & Son Ltd., London, we have purchased the remaining supply of these excellently printed and illustrated superior quality hardbound books. All are standard works in their respective fields and, best of all, the new prices are but fractions of the original publication prices. Quantities are quite limited so do not delay placing an order.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

On October 10th, 1985 Spink & Son Ltd., London, will conduct a major public auction of rare numismatic books. This notable sale will feature duplicates from the Library of the Royal Mint. As might be expected, the sale will be rich in works on English numismatics, and includes Christopher Williams' exceptionally rare 1795 work on 18th century tokens as well as an early issue of the Spence work published the same year. Also included are numerous important sale catalogues, many quite rare, and a near complete run of Royal Mint Reports. Many original British Museum Catalogues are offered, the most important being the ten volume Lane-

Poole 'Catalogue of the Oriental Coins' which is part of a small but fine Islamic library. Markov's rare and still important 'Inventarisch Katalog,' St. Petersburg, 1896-1906 is also included. We will be attending this exceptional sale and will be pleased to execute bids at a nominal commission of 5%. Those who do not usually receive Spink catalogues may request copies from us.

THE FIRST AMERICAN COIN AUCTION?

Recently while perusing an issue of Bowers & Merena's interesting and informative "Rare Coin Review" a letter from Joel Orosz was noted requesting information on the pioneer American antiquarian and numismatist Pierre Eugene du Simitiere. Nothing of earth-shaking magnitude here but then Orosz's letter went on to mention that "Du Simitiere's (sic) collection was auctioned in 1785, and the broadside of the sale (not listed in Attinelli) includes one large lot of coins and another large lot of paper money." Afficionados of early American numismatic auction sale catalogues will know that the first coin sale listed in Attinelli, a broadside, is dated 1828. Here was mention of a broadside sale issued over forty years earlier!

Off the bookshelf came McKay's "American Book Auction Catalogues 1713-1934." Though without mention of coins, the sale was indeed listed. More importantly, McKay noted that a copy of the broadside was held by the Library Company of Philadelphia. A hasty letter quickly resulted in a photocopy of the broadside, along with details for ordering an 8" x 10" glossy print. The result is that in this issue we are pleased to illustrate, perhaps for the first time in a numismatic publication, this historic broadside.

Du Simitiere was born in Geneva in 1737, travelled to the West Indies in 1757, and became a naturalized citizen of New York in 1769. In 1774 he moved to Philadelphia where he remained until his death in October 1784 at the age of 47.

An inveterate collector, du Simitiere accumulated and studied books, newspapers, manuscripts, broadsides, prints, fossils, coins, medals, paper currency, Indian artifacts, rocks, plants, dried insects, and animals preserved in alcohol. Enough, in fact, to make mere bibliomaniacs feel rather normal by comparison. In 1782 he opened the "American Museum" on Arch St. near 4th, the first museum in Philadelphia open to the public.

A scant five months after his death, the contents of the "American Museum" were sold at public auction in Philadelphia. Lot 19 consisted of coins: "A Mahogany (sic) Cabinet containing ancient and modern Gold, Silver and Copper Coins and Medals; among which are some very curious Bronzes" and lot 36 consisted of:

"American Money. A Collection of Parchment and Paper Money." The Library Company of Philadelphia bought nearly all the pamphlets, broadsides, and newspapers, most of the manuscripts, and some of the books. The disposition of the coins remains unknown though it appears that part of the collection may have reappeared in Charles Willson Peale's museum. Peale's son Franklin managed his father's museum and, as is well known, went on to become Chief Coiner and Assayer at the Mint.

Though the first coin sale listed by Attinelli, the 1828 Benjamin Watkins broadside, consisted mostly of books it is not listed in McKay. It is quite likely, however, that at least a few of the nearly 500 pre-1828 book auction catalogues and broadsides listed in McKay will be found to contain numismatic listings. Happy hunting.

For SALE at PUBLIC VENDUE,

On THURSDAY the 10th Day of March, at the Late Dashing Block of Pierre Eugene du Simitiere, Esq.

In Arch-Street, between Third and Fourth-Streets, where the State Lottery Office is now kept,

THE AMERICAN MUSÆUM.

This elegant Collection, sent, for many Years, the principal Object of Mr. De Simitiere's Attention, and has been thought worthy of Notice by both American and European Literateurs. It is considered the best Library, which is now to be had in this Country.
